

Cornell University
Real Estate Council

Tuesday
November
29, 2016

6:30PM - 8:30PM

REGISTER

CORNELL REAL ESTATE REGIONAL MEETING IN LOS ANGELES

Venue:

Greenland USA Sales Gallery
777 S Figueroa St. 47th Floor
Los Angeles, 90015

Panel & Reception:

$35 for Cornell Club of LA members and guests of member
$45 for non-members
$50 at door day of event

Hobbled in Housing: Promises and Pitfalls in Managing Residential Development in Los Angeles

Los Angeles is experiencing an affordable housing crisis of epic proportions. This is not hyperbole. While there is consensus on the severity of the problem, policy makers, constituent groups and developers differ on the best way to address the problem. Come and listen to affordable and market-rate housing developers, financiers, and policy-makers in a real estate roundtable discussion about the problem, what can be done to address it, and whether current and proposed policies will help or hurt.

MODERATOR

Jan Perry

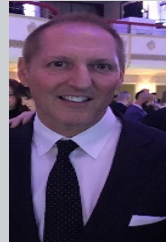

General Manager
Los Angeles Economic & Workforce Development
Department (EWDD)

PANELIST

Thomas L. Safran

Chairman
Thomas Safran & Associates

PANELIST

James Frost

Principal
Frost/Chaddock
Developers LLC

PANELIST

Amy Anderson

Executive Director
PATH Ventures

PANELIST

Tony Salazar

President, West Coast
Operations
McCormack Baron
Salazar

ORGANIZING COMMITTEE

CO-CHAIR

William Weinberger

Shareholder
Parker Milliken

CO-CHAIR

Adnan Tapia

Principal
Ploutus Advisors, LLC

SPONSOR:

GREENLAND
— USA —

About Cornell University Real Estate Council: Cornell University Real Estate Council (“CREC”) is an association of Cornell alumni active in the commercial and residential real estate industry. Founded more than three decades ago, CREC includes more than 1,300 members globally and hosts periodic events on and off campus to further education, collaboration and innovation.